How and Where To Get the Whonnock Notes

Sue Schulze continues to have a stock of this and previous issues of the Whonnock Notes handy at the Whonnock Post Office. I am very grateful for her help.

If you are not planning a visit to Whonnock, and want to buy copies of these or previous Whonnock Notes, please contact Fred Braches, PO Box 130, Whonnock B.C. V0M 1S0. Phone (604) 462-8942, E-mail: braches@netcom.ca

Introduction

These Whonnock Notes include translations of the text of the Minute Book of the Lutheran Congregation at Whonnock (1895 - 1921) and of the three minute books of the Lutheran Women's Association (1897 - 1924). A few words on how they were "discovered."

To write the chapters on Whonnock and Ruskin for Maple Ridge, a History of Settlement in the 1970's, Daphne Sleigh gathered information from many sources. She very kindly donated copies of some correspondence and notes on interviews to the Whonnock Community Association. Included was a copy of a letter from the Mission-Matsqui Parish of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada, addressed to Daphne Sleigh and dated December 10, 1971. The letter mentioned that Whonnock records, all written in Norwegian, were in the Parish office in Mission.

I contacted the Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church in Mission and Sheri Loverod confirmed that minute books of the Lutheran Congregation in Whonnock were indeed kept by the Church. She arranged that I could work with the original books, and was instrumental in the transfer of the custody of the four minute books to the Whonnock Community Association. A copy of the letter from the Lutheran Congregation in Mission is shown on the back cover of these Whonnock Notes.

We are very grateful to Sheri Loverod and the Lutheran Congregation in Mission for their contribution. The original Norwegian minute books are now kept with the document collection of the Whonnock Community Association at the Mission Community Archives. Photocopies of the Norwegian text can be found at the Maple Ridge Museum and the Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church in Mission.

Church books recording marriages, baptisms etc. in the Trondheim Norwegian Evangelical Congregation were kept by the early pastors who all resided in Washington State. In a letter dated Bellingham, September 24th, 1904 (BC Vital Statistics - Reg. Number 04-09-118020), Pastor O.J. Ordal writes: "The above [marriage] ceremony is recorded in the Church book for the above mentioned [Whonnock] Congregation. Said record is kept by me, the undersigned, at Bellingham, Wash." Nancy Webster's father, Teddy M. Lee, thought that these papers were all lost in a house fire (interview August 21, 1985). It may still be possible that someone will discover these or similar documents and they would be a welcome complement to these minutes.

To allow most of us to understand the text of the minute books a translation was necessary. Since Norwegian is not one of my languages I looked for help from someone willing to work with me through the four books.

Lyn Ross of the Coqualeetza Resource Center suggested that I talk to Professor Christensen in Mission. Gustav Strom Christensen emigrated from Denmark to Canada in 1953. He obtained his B.Sc.Eng. Physics from the University of Alberta in 1958 and his MA.Sc. and Ph.D. from UBC in 1960 and 1966. He was Professor of Electrical Engineering, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta from 1966 till 1993 when he and his family retired to Mission, B.C.

Gustav volunteered and generously shared many hours with me during the summer of 1996 translating the minutes. Gustav's Danish background proved an asset, since the Norwegian still used by these settlers had much in common with Danish. So we found ourselves working often with Danish rather than Norwegian dictionaries to solve puzzles in the writings. The settlers had sometimes unorthodox ways of spelling and writing and the occasional use of anglicisms also caused some distress. I thank Gustav Christensen for his wonderful gift to all of us. He made it possible to hear the voices of the early Norwegian again. The project would not have succeeded without his help.

To assure that the translations were adequate and to resolve remaining uncertainties I looked for help from native speakers of the Norwegian language of today. I was fortunate to be introduced by my old friend Ron Sutherland to Magnus and Sølvi-Marie Fjærtøft from Ålesund. The Fjærtøfts very kindly agreed to review the translations and the original text. They were very interested in the project and enjoyed reading the old text and they generously gave their time to provide the help needed. Also to the Fjærtøfts: takk skal du ha!

I am solely responsible for the English text of the translations. Of course we have tried to stay as closely to the original text as possible and that gives it a "foreign flavour". For serious students, the original Norwegian texts are available as a source. My attempt here is to do what is our mandate: "to promote the research and understanding of the past of our community".

I want to mention Nancy (Lee) Webster, who was the first to show me the trail of the Whonnock Lee's and the interesting twists of the intertwining Lee and Nelson families. Most of the documents in Nancy's possession were collected by her father, Teddy Lee.

Teddy Lee and his brother Hank were proud of their ancestry and interested in the history of Whonnock. Ted was interviewed as part of the Historical Project Summer 1985 of the Whonnock Community Associations. Hank was interviewed a decade earlier by Daphne Sleigh. What a pleasure it would have been to hear their stories first hand.

I had a similar pleasure when talking with Arthur Nelson in March of 1997 and would have liked to continue the conversation with the knowledge I have now, but he passed away in July, 92 years old. His grandson, Dean Nelson, very kindly helped me with information on the descendants of Albert Nelson.

I also spoke with Mary Flatla and Gudrun Petersen on the phone and had the great pleasure of recording the stories of Millie Kirkwood this past summer.

In the following pages, I have mentioned by name many who also contributed. I may have omitted to mention others who shared knowledge and insight of the past with me. Please rest assured that I am not less thankful for their help.

I have added a brief introduction on the migration and earliest settlement in Whonnock as well as some notes on land owned by Norwegians before 1905, when the church was built. I have also written a page on the cemeteries and the little church. Further information is given as notes to the minutes and as appendices, including an outline of first Norwegian families. These additions are only intended as background for the readers of the minutes and not as a definitive history of the Norwegians in Whonnock.

I would be very interested to receive any comments, corrections and additions to these particular Whonnock Notes. I also invite you to supply information on any other aspect of Whonnock history. We are not out to collect original documents (although we assure archival storage) but information and photocopies are just fine.

These Whonnock Notes are dedicated to my wife, Helmi, in gratitude. How could I have done this without her support and generosity.

The Norwegian Settlers in Whonnock

Migration & Settlement 1887 - 1897

Three families from the Trondheim area in Norway, the Andersons (Andersen), Nelsons (Nilsen), and Lees (Lie), started to settle in Whonnock shortly after 1887. These families formed the Trondheim Lutheran Evangelical Congregation.¹ They were joined in 1897 by the Knudtsens (Knutsen or Knudsen) and started the Trondheim, later called Lutheran Women's Association.

John Christian Nelson was the first Nelson to settle in Whonnock. He seems to have left Norway in 1887 for Victoria.² We have no Norwegian migration records for his family. The 1901 Census mentions 1887 as the year of immigration to Canada for John Christian Nelson's wife Anna -- married to John Mathisen in 1901 -- and a son, Charles H. Nelson. But the year of migration of the family should perhaps be 1888, as shown for a daughter, Christine, and son Andrew in the 1901 Census. According to the 1901 Census this daughter, [Anna] Christine, was born in Norway in 1888.³

The Census records of 1901 show that Peter Anderson also arrived from Norway in 1887 and we know that he married a daughter of Chris Nelson in November of 1888⁴. Both Peter and his wife Johana are registered as residents of Whonnock. The 1891 Census shows Peter Anderson as a widower, with a one year old infant named Eleanor.

Peter Anderson's father, Andrew (Andreas) Anderson, joined Peter in Whonnock in 1889⁵. In 1895, Andrew Anderson went with Ole Lee Senior to the meeting of the Congregations in what is now the Bellingham area, speaking for the Whonnock congregation.

The first Lees started their migration from Norway in 1887 as well. Ole Lee Senior and two of his sons, Ole Junior and Axel, travelled to Victoria in 1887⁶. The Lees, father and sons, do not seem to have settled in Whonnock as early as John Christian Nelson did. The Census of 1891 does not show any Lees living in Whonnock⁷ and they did not own land here until 1892.

Back in Norway, in 1891, Ole Nelson, a widower and a brother of John Christian, married Ole Lee Senior's oldest daughter, Martha Marie Lee.⁸ Ole and Marie Nelson left Norway for Whonnock that same year with their newborn baby, Aksel Oswald Nelson. Also travelling with the couple were his sons from his previous marriage -- Alfred, Carl and Sverre. His daughter, Anna Oline Nelson stayed in Norway for another year. Ole's decision to leave for Whonnock may have been hastened by the serious illness of his brother. Johan Christian Nelson died in Whonnock in 1891⁹, leaving his widow with three children, the oldest son, Nils Christian, fifteen years and his youngest just a year old.

In 1890, another son of Ole Lee Senior, Hilmar, made the crossing to Canada.¹⁰ At some time Ole Lee Senior must have returned to Norway and he may have been present at the wedding of his daughter Mary and Ole Nelson. In 1892, Ole Lee travelled back to Canada with his wife Gørgine and the remaining children: Gørgine, Ovidia, Karl, Olaus and Oluf. Their destination is shown to be Whonnock.¹¹ Ole Nelson's daughter Anna travelled with the Lee family to Whonnock. She would later marry Axel Lee. Also travelling from Norway to Whonnock was Odin Lee, a son of Ole Lee Senior from an earlier marriage, with his wife Anna (Learson) and their young son.¹²

Georgina Lee married Henry Robert Fletcher on Christmas-day 1895.¹³ Other marriages followed. In February 1896, the widow of John Christian Nelson, Anna Nelson, married John A. Mathisen,¹⁴ who, according to the marriage record was born "In City of Trondheim". The Census of 1901 records that John Mathisen came to Canada in 1888. Ole Lee Junior married Freda Johnson in the summer of 1896.¹⁵ Nils Christian Nilsen married Lizzie Josephine Dunn in August of 1897.¹⁶

The Census of 1901 shows that Andrew and Mary Knutsen (both in their mid thirties) arrived in Canada in 1896 with a child, Gusta, born in the United States. In addition to Andrew Knudtson the minutes mention Erik and Anton Knudtson -- two brothers and probably brothers of Andrew as well.

Albert Nelson,¹⁷ the youngest of the Nelson brothers is not shown as a resident of the Whonnock area in the 1901 Census. It is likely that Albert and his wife Martha and the children Carl, John and Mabel did not come to Whonnock before 1905. The minutes report that "After the service on June 11, [1905] Albert Nilsen and his family joined the Congregation". According to Carl Nelson¹⁸, Albert had a lung ailment after working as a diver to put in foundations of the Patullo bridge. Albert died in September of that year¹⁹ and Albert's youngest son, Art, was born in Whonnock in December of 1905.

Appendix No. 5 shows an outline of the families mentioned here. Notes to the minutes show occurrences after 1897.

² Norwegian migration record: 4 May 1887. Courtesy Rita Willoughby. The records mention Christian Nilsen from Strinden to Victoria, B.C., age 40 years. There is some doubt if the person mentioned is J.C. Nelson, because of an age difference. John Christian was born in 1851 and would have been 36 years old in 1887. The latest he arrived is in 1888 with his wife and children. There are, however, persisting stories in the Lee families that some members of the Lee and Nelson and also the Iverson families made the first trip to Victoria together in 1887.

⁷ Quadra Island and Squamish are stepping stones in the saga of the migration of the Lees to Whonnock. They moved to Whonnock because they were flooded where they were in the Squamish area (personal communication Linda Mattis and Rita Willoughby). They may well have shared that experience with Christian Nelson and his family. According to Maple Ridge, a History of Settlement, "Christian Nelson had moved to the Whonnock homestead in 1889, after an initial attempt to settle in Squamish had been frustrated by severe flooding to his property."

Fishing & Other Jobs

By 1890 the canning industry in British Columbia had developed into an important income earner and experienced fishermen were required for fishing salmon commercially. Gilbert Lee, a son of Ole Lee Jr., said in an interview in 1980 that the Norwegian fishermen were "brought out to BC by the Canadian Government to help develop the fisheries".¹

The Norwegians from Whonnock fished on the Fraser and at the mouth of the Fraser. In summer, some travelled north to the Skeena to fish for sockeye there and to build boats, floats and net racks for the canneries. Some went even further afield. Ole Lee Jr. fished for a season on a halibut steamer in Hecate Straits before the turn of the century and, for two winters, black cod on the West coast of the Queen Charlottes². His brother, Hilmar Lee who arrived in BC in 1890 at age 19, joined the North Pacific fur seal hunt aboard the sealer "Annie E. Paint" out of Victoria for a nine-month voyage which took him from Japanese waters following the herd to the Bering Sea.³

Few Norwegians lived from fishery alone.⁴ Between the salmon runs the Norwegians worked as farm labourers, loggers, carpenters, in construction: in short on anything that came their way and wherever they could find it. Logging their own lands was of course a necessity and a source of income. Like most other Whonnock residents the Norwegians brought farming skills from their homeland and farming in those early days in Whonnock was mainly subsistence farming. With the men away fishing or in pursuit of other paying jobs, much of the farming will have depended on the work of the women and children.

In 1896 and 1897, some of the Norwegians joined other Whonnock residents prospecting around Whonnock for gold, without much success.⁵ Gold fever caught the Lees and it proved to be of advantage for some of them. In 1898, at least three of the Lee brothers left for the Yukon: Ole Jr., Hilmar and Charles. They went from Seattle to Wrangell by steamer, then up the Stikine to Telegraph Creek. Subsequently they crossed with sledges to the headwaters of the Yukon River.⁶ Oluf Rekart ("Dick") followed them a year later to Alaska. Teddy Lee thought that Axel Lee also went in 1898 (interview August 1985). Olaus Lee spent some time in Alaska as well, but he, Axel and Ole Jr. returned to Whonnock. Hilmar, Charlie and Dick would make their future lives in Alaska and the United States. By 1903, when Ole Lee Jr. settled again in Whonnock, he bought the land on the Northeast corner of which the Trondheim Congregation established its cemetery in the spring of 1904 and built its little church, consecrated in February of 1906.

⁶ Hilmar Lee remembered: "It was a terrible long, hard trip [but] we were strong in those days and we made it to the lower end of Lake Teslin in a month." From there to Dawson and later down the Yukon to St. Michaels and to Nome. Source: The Seattle Times, Sunday, May 28, 1961.

Land in Whonnock 1898 - 1905¹

In 1889, Peter Anderson and John Christian Nelson each owned a quarter of a section or 160 acres of land. Today the two quarters are bordered to the north by 112th Avenue and separated by 272nd Street.²

Peter Anderson owned the NE quarter of Section 7 until 1895 or 1896. John Christian Nelson owned the North-west quarter of Section 8. After his death in 1891 most of the land remained in the hands of his widow up to 1901. Her brother-in-law, Ole Nelson, acquired twenty acres of the land in 1892 which remained registered in his name until 1904. From 1896 to 1901 Odin Lee owned 28 acres of the NE quarter of Section 8.

The rolls show that in 1889 Charles Peterson owned the north half of the NE quarter of Section 6 (South of 104 Avenue and West of 272nd Street). The Ownership changed around the arrival of the last of the Lees to "Lee Bros. O[le]³ & A[xel]". After 1902 the record suggests that the land was co-owned by Axel and Olaf Rickart Lee.

In 1896 Andrew Anderson bought three acres in Lot 433, but we do not know which land he owned. Records of 1900 suggest that Peter Anderson was or became the co-owner. In the following years Andrew Anderson was the only owner and Peter Anderson owned 15 (16) acres of land in Lot 433, adjacent to the three acres of his father. In 1905, Andrew shared ownership of his three acres with Bernt and Olaf Anderson.

Lot 433, the old Crown grant to Robert Robertson, includes part of the SE quarter of Section 6. The latter is therefore not the usual 160 acres, but only 120 acres.

This SE quarter is bordered today on the east by 272nd Street and on the south side by 100th Avenue. The 120 acres of the SE quarter of Section 6 were divided into four lots of 30 acres each. As from 1898 these lots were owned by Norwegians: Charles Lee (later Odin Lee), John Mathisen, Andrew Knudtson, and Nils C. Nilson (after 1901: Erik Knudtson).

In 1902, Ole Lee Junior purchased part of Lot 433: 7.5 acres on the shore of the Fraser between the railway tracks and the river.⁴ In the following years, Ole Junior acquired more land of Lot 433. This land, west of the Reserve, lies between the rail tracks and what is now 96th Avenue which was then the highway. It was called Correction Line Road or River Road. Around 1905, a portion in the northeast corner of this land was set aside and used by the Lutherans for their cemetery and to build their little church. The lot is bordered on the west by York Creek, on the north by River road (96th Avenue), and to the East by the Whonnock Reserve.

⁴ Reference Plan 3788. The Reid family has owned the property since the 1930's and kindly shared their information on the property with me.

The Lutheran Church in Whonnock

No one seems to have made or kept a photograph of the Lutheran Church at Whonnock. The front cover of these Whonnock Notes shows a reproduction of a sketch of the little Lutheran church in Whonnock made from memory by Mary Flatla. We owe this reproduction to St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Haney.

As is evident from the minutes of the Lutheran Women's Association, it was the Norwegian women who raised the funds to construct the Lutheran Church in Whonnock. After it was built the women continued to raise money for the maintenance of the church building and its interior and other necessities.

Before the construction of their own church building, the Trondheim Congregation used St. Paul's Anglican Church in Whonnock, built in 1891, for their services.¹ At their meeting in December of 1895, the Congregation decided to try to approach the owners to find out on what terms the Lutheran Congregation could rent or buy the building and use the grounds for a cemetery. That came to nothing.

In April of 1896, the Congregation decided to look for and buy land for a cemetery. In the meeting of February 1897, Nils Christian Nilsen offered to sell some of his land. Another proposal was to buy an acre of land from Fancher, who lived on 96th Avenue (then Correction Line Road or River Road) across from the site where the cemetery and the Lutheran Church would be after 1904. Nothing came out of that either.

The records show that, in 1900, the Congregation finally decided to buy an acre of land from John Mathisen for 25 dollars. Perhaps it was a lot on the east side of 272nd Street just on top of the slope between 110th and 112th Avenue, which still seems to be considered as an old cemetery site by the Real Estate people in our area. Ted Lee also thought that this was the cemetery and that only one or two people were interred there (interview 1985). The first Norwegians settled in that area but the Norwegians subsequently moved closer to the Fraser and to the centre of the community. It is therefore also possible that the land bought from Mathisen was in the SE quarter of Section 6.

The minute books show that in 1904 the Trondheim Congregation decided to abandon the land purchased from John Mathisen and to accept land owned by Ole Lee Junior for a cemetery. This land was on the south side of 96th Avenue, east of 272 Street, adjacent to the Whonnock First Nation Reserve. Although the minutes speak about a purchase, no amount is mentioned and the land was probably donated for that purpose by Ole Lee. This ground, marked today as the "Lee Cemetery", is now the western part of the Whonnock Cemetery and is administered by the Municipality of Maple Ridge.²

In the following year, 1905, the Congregation built their small church on the northwest corner of the cemetery grounds. The church was consecrated in February of 1906 in the presence of pastors from communities in Washington and Oregon. The church on the cemetery survived till 1958. A document in our collection³ dated Whonnock, December 31st, 1957 explains how it ended:

To whom it may concern:

We the undersigned give our approval to the dismantling of Whonnock Lutheran Church; with the understanding that the material be given to Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church of Mission City, B.C.

The document shows the signatures of Mrs. N. Petersen, Alfred Raknerud, Mrs. O.A. Lee, Fredrick Lee, and J. Flatla.

When preparing the chapters on Whonnock and Ruskin for Maple Ridge, A History of Settlement,⁴ Daphne Sleight did extensive interviews. She corresponded amongst others with the Lutheran church asking for information on the Lutheran Church in Whonnock. Pastor Vernon Roste of the Mission-Matsqui Parish of The Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada wrote to Daphne Sleight on December 10th, 1971:

The Whonnock Lutheran Church was given to the construction of Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, Mission.

The church was therefore dismantled in 1958 and the useable materials were used to construct the pastor's study and the mother's [sic] room. Some lumber was also used in the new sanctuary floor and some in the ceiling of the education wing. The altar fixtures were built into the new altar fixtures and benches are still in use in their original condition at Camp Luther, a Lutheran campsite on Hatzic Island, and some benches also remain at Mount Calvary. Thus the old has been incorporated into the new.

The number of Lutherans in Whonnock and Ruskin diminished over the years. Many of the original Norwegian settlers and their children moved away from the area over time and the Norwegian church did not attract Canadian born generations. After many years of neglect, the church was used again after the war and a successor of the Lutheran Women's Association, the Whonnock Lutheran Ladies Aid, came into being in 1949. More on that can be found in Appendix No. 9 "History of Whonnock Lutheran Ladies Aid, August 1949".

The existence of the Norwegian minutes was by no means unknown. In about 1960, the minutes were used by Mrs. Hilda Olsen to produce a review of the history of the Women's Association. The transcript of this text by Mrs. Olsen is added as Appendix No. 8.

¹ In the Marriage Registration of Nels Christian Nelson with Martha Ovidia Finess dated 28 September 1904, Pastor Ordal mentions: "Church (building belongs to Church of England) used by Trondhjems Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran Congregation." (BC Vital Statistics - Reg. Number 1904-09-118020). In October of 1906 when Pastor O. Borge marries Anton Kudtson and Marie Erikson he proudly shows as the place of marriage: "Trondhjems Lutheran Church" (BC Vital Statistics - Reg. Number 1906-09-119278).

Minutes of the Whonnock Congregation

1895 - 1921

Whonnock, 4 March, 1895. As previously announced, a joint meeting was held in New Whatcom of the Lutheran Congregations of Whonnock, Ferndale, Nooksack, New Watcom and Fairhavens on March 4th 1895 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The respective Congregations were represented by lawfully appointed delegates:

Whonnock: Andreas Andersen, Ole Lie
 Ferndale: Y. L. Nilsen, J.E. Morrison
 Nooksack: Hans Skjelstad, C. Tollum, Ole Knudsen
 New Whatcom: John Larsen, Henry Knudsen
 Fairhaven: A. Bjørndahle, J.A. Johansen

Pastor L.C. Foss, present, called the meeting to order and opened it with the singing of Psalm 557 of the Landstads Psalm-book, a reading from Paul's 1st letter to the Thessalonians, 3rd Chapter, and prayers.

On Thursday, Pastor Foos was elected chairman as proposed by J. A. Johansen and, as proposed by Y.L. Nilsen, J. A. Johansen was appointed Secretary. Pastor Foos reviewed the purpose of the meeting, namely to organize a collective call for a permanent minister. He demonstrated the urgency to do this now since neither he nor the Secretary could serve these Congregations on account of much other work.

A. Bjørnal thought that we should first determine if we wanted a pastor. Several speakers gave their views on that and everybody agreed that they wished to have a pastor. They thought that on that no discussion was needed, but there were differing opinions about the way to get a pastor. Some thought that the Synod should or ought to send a pastor, others that we ought to call for a pastor.

Andersen from Whonnock said he had been elected and sent here by his Congregation just for the purpose of calling a pastor to the ministry. They wanted a church service even if it would be only three or four times in a year. It was clarified that the Synod neither could nor would send a pastor to an organized Congregation without a call from the Congregation.

Johansen proposed that the delegates of Congregations represented here would draft a call for a pastor and work together in calling for a pastor. The suggestion was supported by A. Andersen. John Larsen declared that the Congregation in New Whatcom did not want to share in the call because they had called two pastors a short time ago and still had nobody. One speaker expressed that it would perhaps be to everyone's satisfaction to let those who wanted to do it go ahead with the pastor call. This proposal was then accepted with three abstentions.

Proposed by Johansen and seconded by Nilsen to let each Congregation say what contribution their Congregation would give to the wages of a Pastor. Johansen did not dare to promise more than about 25 dollar for the Fairhaven Congregation. H. Knudsen from Whatcom did not promise anything from the Congregation, but would not like to see that the work done in these four years should have been for nothing. He felt though that the Women's organization in Whatcom would be willing to pay 50 dollars. Nilsen, on account of Ferndale's Congregation, mentioned 25 dollars, adding that his Congregation would not like to be without a pastor. Tollum from Nooksack could not say for sure what they had in mind for a pastor, but based on voluntary subscription it would be approximately 60 dollars. Andersen from Whonnock promised 35 dollars on behalf of his Congregation. It was then proposed and seconded to make a call for a pastor to three mission committees here on the coast. The proposal was accepted with nine votes in favour and two abstentions. Proposed that Mr. Olsen, present at the meeting, be nominated as an advisory member. Accepted.

Proposed by Hans Skjelstad to nominate a committee of three to prepare a call letter on behalf of delegates to be signed by delegates from the Congregations. Johansen said the delegates from Fairhaven could not sign the call letter at present. In conformity with a resolution of their Congregation, the decisions of this meeting were to be reported to the Congregation, and the Congregation would then make recommendations to accept or reject the decisions. The proposal was accepted with nine in favor and two against. Pastor Foss, J.A. Johansen and C. Tollum were proposed and nominated to the call letter committee.

J.L. Nilsen moved as follows: that every Congregation is answerable to the pastor only for the amount that has been promised in the call letter as pastor wages. The proposal was seconded by Johansen and unanimously accepted. Decided to include in the call letter the promised wages offered for the holy feasts and payment for pastoral duties according to ability and heart.

J. A. Johansen was proposed and nominated as Secretary of the pastor call committee. It was decided that the Secretary will send the Secretary of each Congregation a copy of the minutes. Decided that the combined meetings will be held in New Whatcom and that the Secretary should call for a joint meeting when the Congregations express the wish for a meeting. The meeting is closed with song a prayer.

² Charles Petersen or Peterson was a Swede, according to the 1891 Census. He sold his land in Whonnock to Ole and Axel Lee. Later he owned land in Ruskin which he shared (1899) and then sold (1902) to Charles N. Nelson. (see page 5, "Land in Whonnock" and Appendix No. 6).

³ Appendix No. 2 provides an overview of the members of the Congregation serving on the executive between 1895 and 1921.

⁴ The Census of 1901 shows that Andrew and Mary Knutsen (both in their mid thirties) arrived in Canada in 1896 with a small daughter, Gusta, born in the United States.

⁶ Fancher's land was on the North side of 96th Avenue, across from where the Trondheim Congregation would later establish their church yard and build their church.

⁷ See Appendix No. 2, "Executive of the Trondheim Congregation 1895 - 1920" for a list of all who held a position in the Congregation.

⁹ The three Lee brothers left for the Yukon and Alaska. See page 6, "Fishing and other jobs."

¹⁰ It is possible that this land is now owned by the Maple Ridge Municipality, identified as Plan 122681^E situated in the Northwest quarter of Section 8, on 272nd Street.

¹¹ The word used here: "interes" is unclear.

¹² It is not clear where Pastor Lane was called. The description of his career (See Appendix No. 1) shows a hiatus for the following years.

¹³ This may have to do with the fact that all Norwegian families had moved closer to the river.

¹⁵ Albert Nelson died in September of 1905 (BC Vital Statistics - Reg. Number 1905-09-08205) and was probably the first to be interred at the new cemetery of the Trondheim Congregation.

¹⁶ Odin Lee died on December 24, 1908. (BC Vital Statistics - Reg. Number 1908-09-085039)

¹⁷ Is Andrew Engen Alfred Nelson's father in law? Alfred Nelson married Elise Engen on December 26, 1906. Parents: Andrew Engen and Dina Hanson. (BC Vital Statistics - Reg. Number 06-09-119369).

¹⁸ No particulars known about Mr. Svendsen

Alfred Sorenson, the youngest son of Andrew fell at Paschendaele on October 26, 1917. "My father said: 'I can not cope with it, I just have to get away from here.'" Millie remembered. Andrew and his children left Whonnock and moved to Port Alberni. They later returned in 1921 (interview with Millie O Kirkwood née Sorenson, Oliver B.C. June 14, 1997).

Whonnock, B.C., February 19th, 1906 - Today the Women's Association's members were called together for an extra meeting at Mrs. Frida Lee's. Since neither the first President nor the second President were present, the Secretary took it upon herself to put forward to the six members present the matter for discussion, namely whether the Association should decide to obtain an organ for the church for the consecration of the church on February 25th but since the Treasurer had no money on hand the only course the Association could take is long-term easy paying conditions. Since most of the members declared themselves prepared to try and obtain an organ at such conditions, the Committee's Chairman, Ole Lee, was asked what he could do about it. Accepted, March 5th, G. F., Secretary.

Fletcher, Secretary.

Whonnock, B.C., November 5th, 1906 - The Women's Association held its eleventh regular meeting on November 5th. The meeting took place at Mrs. Fletcher's. Seven of the Associations members were present and five persons of the Congregation visited the meeting which was chaired by the Association's President and which, as usual, was opened with song and prayer. Thereafter the minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted. After discussion Mrs. O. Lee proposed that the Women's Association should start an action to put a Christmas tree in the church which was unanimously accepted. And furthermore, since the Association cannot pay for the Christmas tree, to take a collection from the Congregation members for the things required for the Christmas tree. A Committee was elected consisting of Frida Lee, Martha Nilsen and Georgina Fletcher. Since two of the Congregation's trustees, Mr. A.B. Lee and Mr. J. Mathisen, were present at this meeting the question was raised what material was left over and not required for the church and to sell them. The meeting's income: from Mr. Mathisen for lumber $0.75. It was decided to hold the next Association's meeting at Mrs. Mathisen's on the 27th November at 3 o'clock. *Accepted with the correction that Anton Knudtsen is the trustee and not J. Mathisen. G. Whonnock, B.C., November 27th, 1906 - The Association's twelfth regular meeting was held at Mrs. E. Knudtsen's on November 27th. The fixed date for the meeting was December 3rd but since the Congregation's pastor wished to be present at this meeting it was arranged to coordinate the date of the meeting with his visit. Eight members were present and in addition the entire Congregation visited the meeting which was opened with song and prayer and chaired by the Congregation's assistant pastor, Rev. V. Borge. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted with the correction that Mr. Anton Knudtsen and not Mr. Mathisen is the Congregation's trustee. The discussion which followed was about the Christmas tree and it was decided to have a Christmas tree celebration in the church on the evening of the second day of Christmas. The Congregation's pastor would then be present. The schoolteacher was present on this occasion to discuss if the school and the church should not share the Christmas tree, but since that did not seem to work well and it was not what everybody liked, an offer was made to help him get a Christmas tree for the school and he was also invited to be at the Congregation's Christmas celebration, still, without taking part in the program. The next thing was a suggestion by Mrs. N.C. Nilsen that the Association should purchase two lamps for the church of 300 candles (light force) at a cost of $4.45 each. Unanimously accepted. The meeting's income was a collection by Mrs. West of $25.00 for which the Association's President, Mrs. Nilsen, should write her a word of thanks on behalf of the Association. Paid by Odin Lee for wood $8.05 and also entrance money $1.45. Altogether a total of $34.50 and expenses for lamps $8.90, two extra glass shades 50 cents. For money order with stamp 12 cents and a candle for the altar 10 cents. For freight for the Christmas tree 25 cents and for the Christmas present for Pastor O. Borge $5.00. A total altogether of $14.87. It was announced that the Association's annual meeting would be on January 7th at Mrs. Odin Lee's and thereafter the meeting was concluded. Accepted, January 7th, Georgina Fletcher, Secretary.

Whonnock, B.C., September 23rd, 1907 - The members of the Women's Association were called together for an extra meeting on September 23rd at Mrs. Odin Lee's to discuss the postponement of the bazaar, which was according to the minutes of the previous meeting to be held on October 4th. It was suggested and supported by the Association not to have a meeting in October, since there was nothing of importance to discuss before the Bazaar takes place. The Association will therefore meet on November 4th at Mrs. Odin Lee's. The Secretary then reported that she had made the following purchases for the bazaar: fabric - $8.84, money order and freight for the fabric - $1.12, freight for gifts from T. ⁹ And the bazaar was a great success as we can read in the Fraser Valley Record Vol. 3 No 21: November 4, 1909

— "On Friday evening last in aid of the funds of Whonnock Lutheran church a grand bazaar was held at the residence of Mr. Tweedie. In spite of a wet night about 60 people attended, in fact nearly all Whonnock was there, creeds and politics dropped for the occasion. All went for a good time. Unlike most bazaars admission and refreshments were free and the goods were sold by auction. Mr. Bartlett in a neat speech welcomed the auctioneer for the evening, Mr. Walden, who has evidently mistaken his vocation, for as an auctioneer he excels. Although he had no hammer he knocked down articles at some rather startling prices, pillow cases, blouses, bed quilts, aprons, table jellies all fetched good prices and over $80 was received at the end of the sale. Refreshments were then served, after which dancing was indulged in until an early hour".—

Linda Mattis, Nancy Webster and Rita Willoughbee (in alphabetical order) contributed most of the information on Lees and Nelsons. I owe Dean Nelson for information on the descendents of Albert Nelson.

BC Vital Statistics is a valuable resource to complement the known or fill in the unknown. I have taken some liberties in making assumptions relating to the Knudtsens and Andersons also based on the Census 1891 & 1901.

Translated from early Norwegian minutes. Nov. 29, 1897

The discovery of the old Minute Books from the Whonnock Ladies Aid relates that this is one of the oldest pioneer Lutheran ladies Aids groups in British Columbia. It was then called the Trondhjemske Ladies Aid, as most of the members came from that part of Norway.

The first recorded meeting took place on the 29th of November, 1897. The following rules were set down:

The meetings are to be held on the first Monday of the month. Members are to pay ten cents in admission at each meeting. Election of officers to be held in the month of January each year.

If any of the Officers are absent without a given reason for as many as three (3) successive meetings, new Officers will be elected in their places.

The President is to lead the meeting, but herself is not to make any resolutions, though she is free to take part in any discussion, and every member is to bring forth whatever they feel would be of value to the Ladies Aid.

Names of the first members:

Maria Nilsen President
 Georgine Fletcher Secretary
 Marie Knutsen Treasurer
 Jorgine Lee, Anna Mattisen, Frida Lee, Lisse Nilsen, Olive Lee
 Marie Nilsen, Marie Knutsen, Kristine Nilsen, Ovidia Lee
 Anna Lee, Mrs. N.C. Nilsen, Dorothea Knutsen, Mrs. A. Nilsen
 Nogert, Mrs. C.H. Nilsen, Mrs. Alfred Nelson, Mrs. A. Engen,
 Mrs. E. Knutsen, Mrs. Janson, Mrs. Odin Bartlett

Meetings were opened with devotion and singing and otherwise conducted much in the same manner as we are doing today, sixty-three years² later, except they had no projects. At that time the Aid had nine members whose chief interest was to raise enough money to build a Lutheran Church in Whonnock.

And those busy women, with none of our modern time saving conveniences, found time to knit, crochet and sew for the yearly bazaar that usually had an income of about $100.00. Basket Socials were another source of income, and an odd collection through the community was taken up by members of the Ladies Aid.

It is evident that those hard working pioneers very strongly felt the need of a place of worship, and it is inspiring to read through these old minute books written in the old Norwegian language, and see the way they willingly threw themselves into any kind of work and hardship in order to raise the necessary funds. It is living proof of the old saying, that you can give without loving, but you cannot love without giving, and the only thing these courageous new comers had to give was their few spare minutes, and their undying devotion.

By the fall of 1905 they had finally got together the sum of $400.00 and the church could be started as soon as a suitable building place was decided on. The Lutheran cemetery on the old River Road was voted as the most suitable place for a church, and soon the voluntary builders were in full swing.

On every recorded meeting from then on the money question was the pressing subject. Even the bare necessities of inventories were quite a problem to their fast dwindling funds. That year there was no money left to buy goods for the yearly bazaar, so their only hope was the Lutheran congregation. A member of the Ladies Aid offered to bring a list around to every member and the sum of $11.00 was collected for material to be made up for the bazaar. In this manner little by little, and with careful planning, they furnished the church, from altar piece to organ and stove.

Finally in February 1906 a proud and happy congregation met for the dedication services of the Whonnock Lutheran Church on River Road. It was painted later that year at a cost of $20.00. Rev. Hagos was the first minister mentioned by name in 1899 and Rev. Aardal in 1902.

The minister was not usually present at the meetings, since it is mentioned in one place that he had nine congregations - six in Washington, USA and three in British Columbia, which are all mentioned by name.

In 1907 Rev. Ordal resigned and Rev. O. Borge was appointed by the congregation. It was also decided that year to raise the ministers stipend from $40.00 to $80.00 per year. Meetings became more irregular — the women were too busy for summer meetings.

In January 1913 the Ladies Aid decided to discontinue their meetings for the time being, as two of their most active members had put in their resignation, as was the custom at that time. In 1914 they re-organized. New Officers were installed and the meetings proceeded as before. Their first decision was to build a stable next to the church so the horses would be comfortable during the Sunday service.

The meetings were kept up with good attendance for the next two years. Hard times are mentioned at the meeting and anyone serving more than sandwiches and one kind of cake was fined $1.00. One can read between the lines how much they enjoyed their meetings, and how they looked forward to the next. Norwegian was their only language.

In 1918 they made their first donation, which went to the Foreign Missions. Their Bazaars were still taking in from $60.00 to $70.00, but the membership was falling off. Some had moved away and some had passed away and other had resigned for various reasons, usually on account of the distance, as their horse and buggy transportation called for a man at the reins over the rough ungravelled roads. And since in those days the baby sitter's name was Mother, the young ones had to be brought along, even though it meant a long and muddy walk. When the membership had dwindled to four and they could only manage three of four meetings a year, they reluctantly gave up. In 1925 only two meetings were recorded, the last being held in June of that year.

The Whonnock Ladies Aid was forgotten until 1949 when Rev. Kandal held an occasional service at the old Lutheran Church which by now was pretty well neglected and forgotten, with many of those faithful pioneers resting under the sod next to the church they had strived so hard to create,

The Aid now has about 20 members and are steadily increasing in numbers and strength, and in hope for a continued good future in the service of our Lord.

As one historian said — "When I think of these Mothers, quiet and unobtrusive, expecting and wishing for no earthly reward, I think of their devotion to duty. No one sang their praises nor did they expect it. They are truly the heroines of those primitive times".

God Bless our Pioneer Mothers!

History of Whonock Lutheran Ladies Aid August 1949

Transcription from typescript notes

The members of the original Ladies Aid, who had helped to build and keep up the Lutheran Church on River Road at Whonock, had long since passed on, or had left; except one who still resides in the district.

The church had for many years been neglected as the congregation had dwindled, and no services were held.

Then more families of Lutheran faith moved into the district again, and early in 1944 Pastor Solheim came out every two weeks or so to hold services. About that time Mr. and Mrs. Raknerud had Sunday School for the children. Mr. Fred Hoyme often came out to speak to the groups too, who gathered at the church during the warmer months and in the homes during the winter months, and a Lutheran congregation was again built up. When Pastor K.O. Kandal came to serve Matsqui, in 1945, he also came out every second Sunday to conduct services at Whonock, either at the church or in the homes, when winter snow blocked the road to the church.

A congregation without a Ladies Aid did not seem complete, so the pastor spoke to the ladies concerning this.

In the summer of 1949, Miss Kari Flatla, Secretary of the Lutheran Missionary Society in Norway, was in the district visiting relatives. She had lectured on the work of the Missionary Societies, in Lutheran Churches in Vancouver, and Whonock.

Pastor Kandal thought it would be such a good time to organize a group here, while she was with us. So Mrs. I.B. Fjarlie offered her home for the ladies to meet in and invited the ladies from the neighborhood.

August 11, 1949 with Rev. K.O. Kandal presiding, the Whonock Lutheran Ladies Aid came into being.
